2017 GMSI-GSDM Summer Camp

– Call for Participation –

The Graduate Program for Mechanical Systems Innovation (GMSI) and the Global Leader program for Social Design and Management (GSDM) at The University of Tokyo (UT) will hold a Summer Camp. By gathering together PhD students from various countries studying Mechanical Systems Innovation, Social Design Management and related fields, the Camp aims to widen the research perspective of the participants and facilitate international communication by developing international networks among young researchers. We invite PhD students from departments/universities related to GMSI and GSDM to join the camp.

Outline of the 2017 GMSI-GSDM Summer Camp

Dates: Friday, July 28 to Monday, July 31, 2017

Place: The University of Tokyo and Shinrin-Koen Heritage Resorts
 Hongo, Bunkyo-ku, Tokyo and Kumagaya, Saitama

Sessions: 1) Technical presentations* and discussion on participants' research topics
 2) Discussion and survey in small teams with presentations by each group

*Further details will be notified to the participants prior to the camp.

Expected participants: Approximately 40 PhD students from the University of Tokyo and 20 from outside Japan are expected to attend the Camp. Professors, researchers, and staff of GMSI and GSDM will also attend.

The camp will be conducted entirely in English.

Expenses (Non-UT students):

- 1) The invitee from abroad will be provided a round-trip discounted economy-class air ticket. Arrival in Japan will be on July 27, and departure will be on August 1. Requests for open-jaw tickets or stopover itineraries will not be granted. Support of international airfare by the invitee is very much welcome. If the total number of applicants exceeds the Camp capacity, applicants supporting their own international airfare will be preferentially selected.
- 2) Accommodation and meals will be fully provided while at the Camp venue (from lunch on July 28 through lunch on July 31). We will also arrange transportation to/from the Camp, as well as lodging in Tokyo for the nights of July 27 and 31. The travel cost between Tokyo and Narita or Haneda airport will be reimbursed.
- 3) Non-UT participants are able to visit a GMSI and GSDM-affiliated laboratory at the University of Tokyo before or after the camp, on the condition that they can set appointments themselves.

Expenses (UT Students):

Accommodation and meals will be fully provided while at the Camp venue (from lunch on July 28 through lunch on July 31).

Qualifications for participation: To be eligible for admission to this Camp, you must
